Terrain

The competition terrain is located in the North-western corner of the sand-dune ridge between the Danube and Tisza rivers at a height of 110-120 meters above sea level. The dunes created by the wind produced an area of varied relief. The terrain consists of semi-open areas with rich contour details, intermittent by patches of deciduous forests. On other parts pine forests with good run-ability follow up deciduous forests with varying vegetation cover. The terrain has a rare road and path network, forest cuttings are almost non-existent.

No orienteering competition has ever been organized on the terrain before!
